

09/80/672

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An image information processing system that displays first and second information about image information stored in the system and interlinks the first and second information, such that when the order of the first information is changed, the order of the second information is also changed, thereby simplifying various operations for the user.

RECEIVED

JAN 37 2004

Technology Center 2100